Instructions

Lectures for the summer semester 2024/2025 will begin on 17 February 2025. They will be held every Monday from 9:20 a.m. to 12:50 p.m. in the building on Odbojárov Street, left wing, fourth floor, lecture room O 419.

Conditions for Successful Completion of Laboratory Practice and Credit Assignment

1. Completion of all laboratory sessions

Laboratory practice starts according to the schedule at 8:25 a.m. and ends at 5:25 p.m., with a one-hour lunch break. If a student cannot attend a laboratory session, they are obliged to make it up (replace). The absence must be supported by a doctor's note or another serious and verifiable reason. One missed session can be substituted during the credit week.

2. Passing the tests for each laboratory session

A test will be given at the beginning of each laboratory practice (at 8:25 a.m.) to verify knowledge of the topic to be practised. Each test will consist of 5 questions. Students must prepare using lectures and literature available in the faculty library. A minimum score of 60% is required to pass. Students who do not meet this threshold must leave the practice, study the topic further, and repeat the entire practice, including the test.

Special note for the first laboratory session:

On the first lab practice, no test will be given. From the second session onwards, students will write two tests: one covering the topic of the first session (for which no test was taken) and one for the topic of the current session.

Reminder:

Check your university email account regularly for updates.
